Professional Fiber Optic HDMI 8K Armored Cable 100m on Drum

Vivolink Optical HDMI 8K Armored Cable, supplied on a robust 100-meter cable drum designed for safe transport and efficient handling.

The drum features an extra-high outer flange, making it easier to reel the cable in smoothly and evenly. An integrated connector compartment allows the HDMI connector to be securely stored inside the drum during reeling, preventing the cable head from rotating freely and improving handling during installation and storage.

This drum design helps ensure practical handling on site while protecting the cable and connector throughout transport and use.

The fiber optic HDMI cables are made to deliver lossless audio and video signals over long distances. The fiber optic technology ensures the most reliable connection and is safe to use where EMI and RFI interference is present.

The Kevlar fibers in the cables makes the cables perfect for rough installation environments. The Kevlar fibers are attached with lock rings in the connectors of the HDMI cables and protects the cables even when pulled with high force in cable runways, in walls and over ceilings.
